Phoenix, Arizona – Arizona Rock Products Association Welcomes Dan Godzich to the ARPA Team!

Arizona Rock Products Association (ARPA) has brought Dan Godzich on board as the new Membership Services Manager.

Dan served in the Administration of President George H. W. Bush in both the White House Office of Public Liaison and as White House Liaison at the Office of Personnel Management. He is a veteran of four U.S. presidential campaigns and numerous U.S. Senate, congressional and state candidate campaigns. Most recently, he was the Majority Leader and Education Policy Advisor for the Arizona State House of Representatives.

"We are pleased to have Dan Godzich join ARPA. With his Federal and State government experience, he makes our terrific team at ARPA even stronger" ARPA Executive Director Steve Trussell said. "His background in both policy and politics will be a great resource for our members."

"It is an honor to join ARPA at this exciting time. As our nation begins to discuss much needed infrastructure improvements, ARPA will be in the heart of the action," Dan Godzich said. "Working with Steve Trussell and the entire ARPA team, is a great opportunity."

###

For 60 years, the Arizona Rock Products Association (ARPA) has served as the oldest mining association in Arizona and has been providing representation for 104 member companies. ARPA producing members companies are involved with the production of aggregates, asphaltic concrete, ready mix concrete, asphalt, lime products, and portland cement throughout our great state. These members are joined by nearly 60 associate member companies that provide related transportation, contracting and consulting services, making ARPA a significant economic driver in Arizona.
